Summary of reasons for decision:

The computer moving image file consists of scenes of explicitly depicted sexual activity intended for the sexual arousal of adult viewers. The unrestricted availability of the publication is likely to cause injury to the public good by having a harmful effect on the development of children and teenagers' sexual behaviour and attitudes. A restriction on the availability of this publication to persons who have attained the age of 18 years is a proportionate response to the risk of injury to the public good that has been identified, and is therefore a reasonable limitation on the right to freedom of expression as affirmed by the New Zealand Bill of Rights Act 1990.
